Observations...

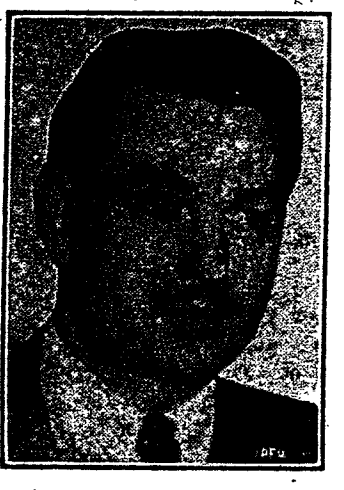

By the Editor

We have checked further on the reported rumor of the appointment of our representative in the State Legislature to the position of road accountant in Hancock County. We have been assured by members of the Board that this was never seriously considered. It had been suggested, not by members of the Board, but from another source. We are indeed glad to say that after all it was only a rumor, and that it positively will not happen. We have the assurance of the board members for this statement. . . . We want to thank our good friend, Mrs. Elizabeth Boudin for the big bag of Irish potatoes she sent us a few days ago. They were really beautiful specimens, red, perfectly shaped, smooth skinned. These were grown in Mrs. Boudin's home garden, and are a perfect example of where there is a will there is a way. . . . The time for the elections of our congressmen is nearing. We in the sixth congressional district have the honor of being represented by perhaps one of the ablest men in the United States Congress. Bill Colmer is a statesman, and he has ably represented his district and his people. It is to be hoped that he will be returned this year without opposition. It is unfortunate that the law provides that congressmen must be elected every two years. The expense of a campaign every two years over a 17 county district just keeps a man broke. . . . He can hardly come out of one campaign before he is in another. As ably as Bill has represented his district, he has not been so fortunate as not to have opposition except on one occasion. Let's hope that there will be a second time, and that it will be this year. He is needed on the job in Washington, where his leadership can do much good for us and our country as a whole instead of being forced to come home to make a campaign. It was he who, as head of the Post War Economic Committee, had a conference with Joe Stalin at the close of the war. It is he who has urged this country since that time to use stiffer methods in dealing with Russia, and if his suggestions had been followed throughout we perhaps would not be engaged in the cold war, we need more men of the type of Bill Colmer in the United States Congress. . . . On last Friday and Saturday evenings, Bay High School and St. Joseph Academy students staged their annual May Festivals. These were colorful affairs and much credit should go to those who are perpetuating this age old custom of the May Festival. . . . The Kings Daughters Hospital will celebrate Florence Nightingale Day on this Friday. It has been the annual custom to have a linen shower for the hospital on this day. This year the Kings Daughters are asking that cash donations be made, instead of linen. The hospital no longer buys their linens as they use a linen service, which has proved more economical. The cash received will be used to purchase an incinerator and other equipment needed for the hospital. . . . Don't forget the hospital, it has done a great work in this little city. . . . For the past few weeks the gardens in the City of Bay St. Louis have been, with their blooming Easter lilies, a thing of beauty. The planting of these beautiful flowers has become so abundant in our city that one could not attempt to name the various gardens, nor say which was the prettiest. It was suggested by our friend Leo Kenney, that Bay St. Louis should be called the city of the Easter lilies.

THE ECHO LAUNCHES BIG SUBSCRIPTION CONTEST

Introducing Bill Gupton, Our Subscriptions Contest Manager

After consulting a number of publishers, and press associations, as to the most efficient and reliable circulation building organization in America, we were advised to get in touch with the Liner Circulation Service, Chicago, Illinois. We were indeed fortunate in being able to secure the personal services of Bill Gupton, one of the top ranking men with the company, to conduct our drive. Mr. Gupton is an indefatigable worker and stays on the job literally day and night during peak seasons—is extremely conscientious about the proper conduct and maximum results of each campaign—and is unalterably opposed to any unethical methods. Please consider this a personal invitation by the publisher of The Sea Coast Echo to the live-wire men and women in this area who would like to own a brand new 1950 Chevrolet Deluxe Sedan worth exactly $2157.49 or one of the other valuable and attractive prizes, to come to our contest office, Gex Bldg., 142 Main without delay and meet Mr. Gupton and learn how you, too, can be a big prize winner during the next 45 working days.

Legionnaires Dig In; Begin Construction Work

A group of Legionnaires invaded the Legion property with shovels, spades and axes and went to work Sunday clearing the land to lay the forms for the concrete wall of the American Legion home. The wall should be completed by the end of this week, Fred Payard, commander, announced. Next week work will begin on the building that will house the temporary Legion meeting place and concession. For a number of years the Legionnaires have contemplated the construction of a permanent home, but the lack of funds prevented any action. A year or so ago the group purchased a piece of land on the beach front, but were not able to start any building until recently. The majority of the work on the building will be volunteer labor by the Legionnaires and others who are interested in securing this public pier and sand beach for the City of Bay St. Louis.

The Top Contestant Receives 1950 Chevrolet; $750 Is Second Prize, Many Cash Awards

You are invited to take part in the greatest prize-giving event ever inaugurated in this area and share in the distribution of prizes to be awarded July 1st. Although this newspaper already enjoys a wide circulation in this city and surrounding territory, we are anxious to add new subscribers to our list and at the same time give present readers an equal opportunity to renew their subscriptions at the special reduced rate to be in effect during a 6 1/2 week subscription drive just starting. With this end in view, we have planned, and today announce the most interesting and altogether attractive prize offer imaginable in which a brand new Chevrolet De Luxe Sedan worth exactly $2157.49, will be awarded as grand capital prize, together with a second grand prize of $750, in cash, followed by four big cash bonus awards and a veritable shower of money in the form of extremely liberal commission checks, payable EACH WEEK, to the enterprising men and women (married or single) and young people of the more ambitious sort residing in this area and vicinity who are willing to cooperate with us in this short, snappy contest.

Les M. Taylor, Brother Of Local Resident Chosen As State's Outstanding Businessman

Les M. Taylor, Jackson, brother of Mrs. M. A. Gilmore of this city has been chosen as the outstanding businessman of the state by the members of Beta Gamma Sigma, national business scholastic fraternity, at the University of Mississippi and has been initiated into honorary membership in the organization.

SLOGAN "EVERYBODY WINS"

One of the features of this unique contest is the fact that there are no losers in the race, as a cash commission of 20% ($1 out of every $5 collected) will be paid each week to all active participants which, in itself, is an excellent business proposition. This is most emphatically not a "lucky drawing" nor a "something for nothing" affair. Instead, it is a business proposition pure and simple.

several months duration, but extends over a period of only six and a half weeks. Think of being able to acquire such desirable and "hard-to-get" prizes in so short a time for just a little interest and lively action on your part.

The first step toward success is to clip the Entry Blank and Free Vote coupon appearing in the big 2-page announcement; then, by using the Early Effort coupon appearing on the front page of this issue (coupon good only during first week of contest), you're off to a flying start with a substantial number of votes toward winning the big prizes offered.

SPECIAL CASH PRIZES FIRST WEEK

Just to start the ball rolling quickly, and as a little added incentive to prompt action on the part of those who intend to participate, this newspaper will award 20 special cash prizes (consisting of ten $25 cash prizes and ten $10 cash prizes) to the aggressive "early starters" who make the best showing during the first week of the contest, terminating Saturday night, May 20th. These special cash prizes are in addition to the regular 20% cash commission, payable weekly, but to qualify for a SPECIAL prize, a minimum of $100 in subscription collections is necessary—which, after all, is a very small requirement and easily obtainable.

SUPER-SPECIAL CASH PRIZES, TOO!

Then, too, other extra cash prizes on top of the above mentioned special prizes and regular cash commissions are offered for extra effort and unusual individual results obtained during first week of contest, as fully outlined in rule 18 of big announcement elsewhere in this issue. It is easily possible, therefore, for a really aggressive person to earn as much as $100 cash, or even more, during their first week in the contest while striving to win one of the major awards.

In order to give participants our fullest cooperation and assistance, a contest department has been set up with an experienced and courteous contest manager in charge who will help you in every legitimate way with advice and suggestions as to how best to go about getting started and carry through to a successful conclusion.

Contestants residing in the out-lying communities of this area will receive the same helpful instructions as those living right here in Bay St. Louis.

Please consider this a personal invitation from the publishers to call at our office without delay and learn how to get your share of the good things offered. Time is limited; act today!

King's Daughters and Sons Are On The March

In twenty-one years the Kings Daughters hospital has grown from an organization heavily burdened with debt to one of the nicest small hospitals anywhere along the Coast.

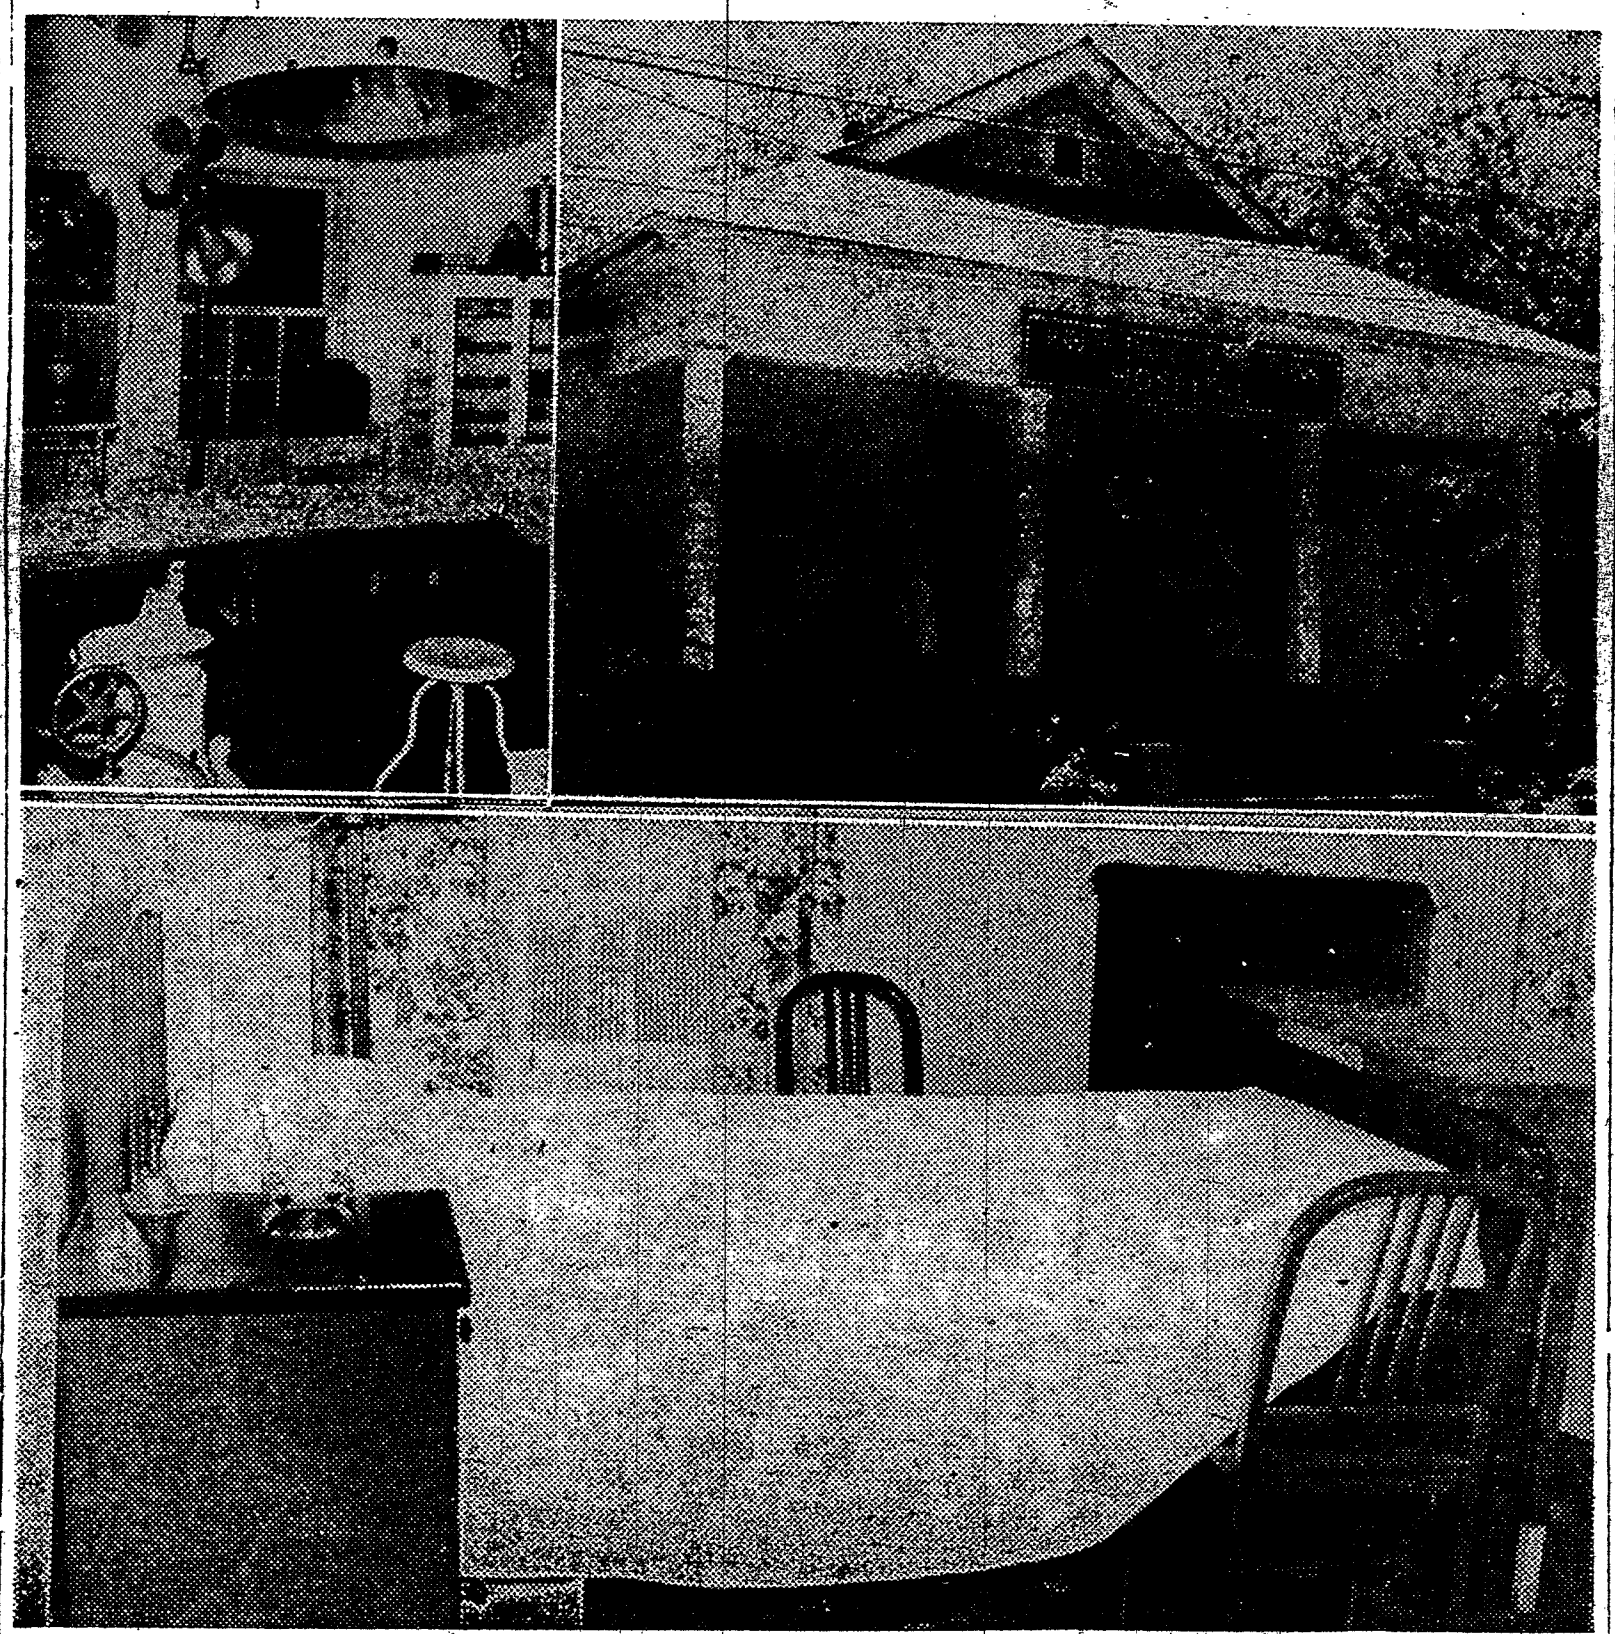

The hospital was originally located in the Dr. D. H. Ward building; and in October 1929, it was moved from this site to the W. L. Bourgeois home on Main Street. The woodwork of the Bourgeois home had been painted throughout and the furnishings of the house were so suited to each room as to effect a complete hospital. The new hospital included an entrance room, a children's ward with two beds, two private rooms, a ward with three beds, an operating room and kitchen, all on the first floor, and on the second floor a free ward with three beds, a transient room for anyone desiring to remain at the hospital with their sick people and a comfortable room for the nurse in charge, were located on the second floor. The nurse in charge of the hospital was Mrs. Alice McCorkle of New Orleans.

The Kings Daughters Circle was receiving donations from interested citizens for the Kings Daughters Emergency Hospital building funds. In October, 1929 the group collected the sum of $1251. The building was to be erected on property given by Mrs. E. J. Leonhard.

A few of the ladies in Bay St. Louis who were instrumental in keeping the Kings Daughters hospital going in its early days were Mrs. A. F. Fournier, Mrs. W. L. Bourgeois, Mrs. E. J. Leonhard, Miss Ida Edwards, Mrs. W. O. Sylvester, Mrs. Mary Montgomery, Mrs. W. W. Partridge, Mrs. O. W. Sylvester, Misses Spurl and Nye, and a host of others who were not mentioned in the record books and the old issues of the "Echo."

The first major operation to be performed in the King's Daughters Emergency Hospital was successfully performed on Mrs. Celia Cuevas by Dr. D. H. Ward of Bay St. Louis and Dr. H. K. Tipples of Gulfport in December, 1929.

The hospital was gradually built with the aid of friends, but about this time the depression hit the world, and Bay St. Louis as well as other sections of the country was affected. The hospital had little working capital; in fact, they had to secure donations each month in order to pay the outstanding bills. Sometimes it was six or seven months before Mrs. Craft, nurse in charge at that time, could be paid her monthly salary of $60. It was in 1932 that the City of Bay St. Louis agreed to pay $5 a month for maintenance of the hospital.

For every two pay patients treated in the dark days, there were four charity patients. Some months they would collect very little over $50 from patients treated in the hospital.

The City of Bay St. Louis and Hancock County came to the aid of the hospital when they were in need, and each year they contribute to the support and maintenance of the King's Daughters. They have grown into some of the most reliable supporters.

In 1934 the state came to the aid of the hospital; they appropriated $2,000 for the local King's Daughters Hospital.

For ten years or more Mrs. A. F. Fournier was president of the local circle of King's Daughters.

Every year on the birthday of Florence Nightingale, the circle gave a linen shower for the hospital, but this year the group decided not to have a shower, but asked that all gifts be given in cash instead of linens as the hospital needs an incinerator and other items.

For years the hospital lived on a shoestring, but it gradually pulled out. It was recently enlarged and redecorated with a number of new improvements made. It will continue to grow until we have a large ultramodern hospital with the latest medical equipment.

In a little over twenty-one years what was started by a group of determined ladies, has grown and will continue to grow as a monument to their efforts.

LOCAL PAPER—EASY TO SELL

One of the easiest things to sell in this area at the present time are subscriptions to the Sea Coast Echo—home owned, home operated for homefolks—and well received within the surrounding areas of this section.

With the general shift of population during the recent years, and influx of new people to this land of plenty, there are literally hundreds of such folks who would be only too glad to become a regular subscriber to their own local newspaper if merely asked to do so.

In view of these facts, we decided to use this novel but time-tested and proven method to quickly place our newspaper in the hands of more readers each week and thereby widen its scope of usefulness to the entire community.

WILL IT BE PROFITABLE?

Will such a costly subscription drive be profitable to the publishers of this newspaper? That is a question that probably will occur to all who read the big double issue. Yes, it will pay; not in the immediate dollars and cents, perhaps, for the expense of this undertaking is very heavy, but it should be remembered that newspapers earn dividends in other ways by having complete coverage in their fields.

During this drive, hundreds of new subscribers will be added to our list, which means an immediate enhancement to the potency of the Sea Coast Echo as an advertising medium—the principal source of revenue for all newspapers—besides extending its influence for community betterment and the prestige gained will be almost inestimable.

Ingram Speaks of Lunch Program At Rotary Meet

S. J. Ingram was guest speaker at the meeting of the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club Wednesday, May 10. Mr. Ingram spoke on the state school lunch program as carried on in all the schools of Mississippi.

This state does not have a free lunch program, but receives some federal aid as well as state allotted funds which are pro-rated among the schools in each county according to their needs, the speaker said. At the lunch room each student pays fifteen cents for a well prepared and well balanced plate of ample portions, he added. For the seven months of this school year 30,000 have been served and 4,000 meals were served free to the needy children who could not pay.

There is no local contribution of any kind and from the profits, $744 has been spent on new equipment. "Any other profits," Mr. Ingram said, "will be used in the same way."

The speaker pointed out that through the surplus of commodities that the government has from time to time, disposition is made to the lunchrooms throughout the country; this is of great assistance in the work.

MOTHER, A MIGHTY POWER

*They say that man is mighty,
He governs land and sea,
He wields a mighty scepter
O'er lesser powers that be;
But a mightier power and stronger
Man from his throne was hurled,
For the hand that rocks the cradle
Is the hand that rules the world.*
—William Ross Wallace.

Mothers the world over rule the home and guide their children along the right way of life; they are the force that maintains a united family. The hand that rocks the cradle, molds the character of the child. A mighty power in a great nation.

Today, more than ever, mothers have a turbulent course carved for them in an unsettled world. The burden of rearing a family grows greater and greater each succeeding day, and upon the mother rests the greater part of this burden.

Signal honor is rightfully due Motherhood, and in this country the Second Sunday of May of each year is set aside for this occasion; particularly is the time fitting, as the month of May is the time dedicated to Mary, the Mother of our Lord.

On the day set aside, we as children, honor our mothers in little ways which bring immeasurable happiness; the churches honor our mothers by dedicating services and sermons to them; and the family gathers in tribute to this great personage.

In 1907 Ann Jarvis of Philadelphia, first suggested Mother's Day. It received national recognition on May 8, 1914, by a resolution passed by both houses of the Congress. It was given further recognition the following year when the President was authorized to proclaim the second Sunday of May of each year as Mother's Day.

This Sunday we will once again honor our Mother on this, her day; we will show our love and devotion for her with gifts of esteem, and by spending this day with her. This is her day, and we, as children should be happy that we are afforded an opportunity to be with her, in a free God-loving country, where a Mother can devote her life to the care and well being of her children. We should think of Mother, not only on one day of the year, but on each and every day. Every day should be her day, she should be our eyes, our heart, our every thought, in thoughtful appreciation of the many sacrifices she has made for us.

All that we may say, adds up to one thing, Love and Devotion; and in return and in an effort to repay her on this day and every other day, show her that Love and Devotion is not one sided, and that you too, are prepared to make a few sacrifices, as valiantly as she has, so that she may now have a few moments of enjoyment with you, her ideal, and in pleasant memories that she has been your guiding light along the rocky pathway of life.

*Children, make your mother happy,
Many griefs she has to bear;
And she wears 'neath her burden—
Can you not those burdens share?*
—Alice Cary.

Congressional Sidelights

by Congressman Wm. M. Colmer

POLITICS

This is a Congressional election year. Primaries are in process in both the Democratic and Republican Parties throughout the forty-eight states of the Union. Of course, the time for holding these primaries is fixed by local state committees in some instances and legislatures in others. Some primaries have already been held and others will be conducted through the next several months prior to the General November Elections. Incidentally, Mississippi is one of the last states to hold its primaries—in August.

FLORIDA PRIMARY

One of the primaries so far conducted, which attracted most attention, was the Florida primary. Two of Florida's five members of the House and one of its Senators, Pepper, had opposition. The two House incumbents with opposition, Bannett and Rogers, were But it was the Senatorial election upon which national interest was focused, and now, after Congressman Smathers' resounding defeat of the Veteran Senator Pepper, a great deal is being said and written by the politics in explanation of that thumping defeat of the so-called Progressive Pepper.

While everyone is entitled to his own views, we are of the opinion that there was a combination of circumstances and that no single factor was controlling. Possibly the most substantial contributing factor to the Senator's defeat was the fact that throughout the past 14 years, he had achieved a reputation as a Liberal. He designated himself as a Liberal; his enemies dubbed him a Keel. We think the truth is that Claude Pepper is an exceptionally able man. We think that, had he been content to remain a senator from Florida, he could have done so almost as long as he desired. But he was also overly ambitious. He realized that, as a Southern Democrat, he could never achieve political fame as a Presidential or even Vice-Presidential nominee of the Party so long as he voted and advocated the "Southern Way." Therefore, to achieve his goal, he aligned himself with every so-called Liberal and Progressive group in this country. He became one of the chief spokesmen of all minority groups. He even refused to go along with his Southern colleagues in filibusters against SEPC and other civil rights proposals. Thus, he became the beneficiary of the plaudits of the Society for the Advancement of Colored People, The Daily Worker, the labor organizations and, in fact, practically every racial and minority group in the country. But when the vote counting time came, the Senator found that an aroused, unorganized mass of his constituents was more powerful at the polls than all of the combined efforts of the minority groups. Claude Pepper, like the dog in Aesop's Fable, dropped the Senatorial bone in the stream in an effort to grab the reflected image of what he thought was a Presidential bone.

"Ghost Story" with a Happy Ending

Seems Red Fowler's family was away and he was all alone—working in the fields—when he heard a horn blowing up at the house.

Red looked up, and smoke was pouring from the shed used for housing his brand-new half-ton pickup. Racing home, he found the truck was backed out of the burning shed—and was sounding its horn. Not a soul was around!

Figured there must be a friendly spook—"all he reasoned things out: Fire started by spontaneous combustion (oil rags) ... heat short-circuited the starter, causing the truck (left in reverse) to back up ... horn, also shorted.

gave the alarm that got him there in time to put the fire out.

From where I sit, it Red had checked-up on his shed—as, say, Andy does on his Garden Tarsus—no fire would have started. Andy co-operates with the Brewen's Self-Regulation Program and watches to prevent any trouble before it begins. Andy puts his trust in cleanliness, and law and order—instead of luck, or "friendly spooks."

Initiative And A Little Knowhow Bring Profitable Results Proved By Mr. & Mrs. Paul Bounds

Paul Bounds, a 28 year old ex G. I. with 37 months of service in the United States Army—much of which time was served in the South Pacific—has only one regret—that he did not further his education, particularly in the field of agriculture.

"It would be of so much benefit to me at this time," Bounds said. "I think every farm youth should acquire some college work in agriculture even though he may never use it. I have gained much technical knowledge, which has proved so beneficial to me in my farm program, from our county Agent and Soil Conservationist. This has made me realize my mistake and, too, realize how much more ably the job could have been done had I prepared myself in the fundamentals so necessary for a good farm program."

Paul, who was born in the city of Picayune, moved to the Flat Top Community in Hancock County at the age of 13 years. In his youthful days, farming and dairying as a life's work were far removed from his mind; it travelled in other spheres. When he returned from his tour of duty in the army, he carried out his childhood ambitions—he bought a truck and started hauling stumps and tung nuts.

In October of 1946, he married Miss Marjorie Bounds of Alexandria, La.; shortly after his marriage, his father's health became impaired and, in order to lend assistance to his parents, Paul began to milk their cows. When his father offered to sell the younger Bounds part of his herd, Paul and Marjorie decided to change their course and stay on the farm. Under the G. I. program he borrowed a sufficient sum of money to pay for the dairy cattle he purchased from his father. This loan was paid and additional funds were borrowed to buy more.

An 80 acre farm near his father's place was for sale; so Paul made an application to the Farmer's Home Administration for a loan to buy this property, and build pastures, ponds, etc. His application was approved and the deal was consummated. The next morning when Paul got up he found himself a farmer with his own land, cattle, farm machinery and all—completely equipped—all that was needed was manpower and the knowhow.

Included in his loan from the Farmers Home Administration were funds for the building of improved pastures. Through the efficient offices of James L. Bishop, Soil Conservationist for Hancock County and the P. M. A. officers, now under the direction of Hugh Eggerton, and Howard Simmons, County Agent, this pasture building program was started and today, he has 27 acres in white dutch clover and dallas grass, part of which is pictured above. In this program is an 8 acre pond for the watering of his stock, 60 acres of his total of 80 acres are cleared and his hope is to have the total acreage cleared and in improved pasture. The day we visited his farm, he was out with his father, at the time we arrived, negotiating for some additional acreage.

What has this young man and his young wife accomplished? Let's take a look. A nice home, a real pasture, with more in sight, 24 head of dairy cattle, 16 calves and heifers. All of the calves and heifers were raised by them, bred through artificial insemination from some of the best registered jersey bulls in the State of Mississippi.

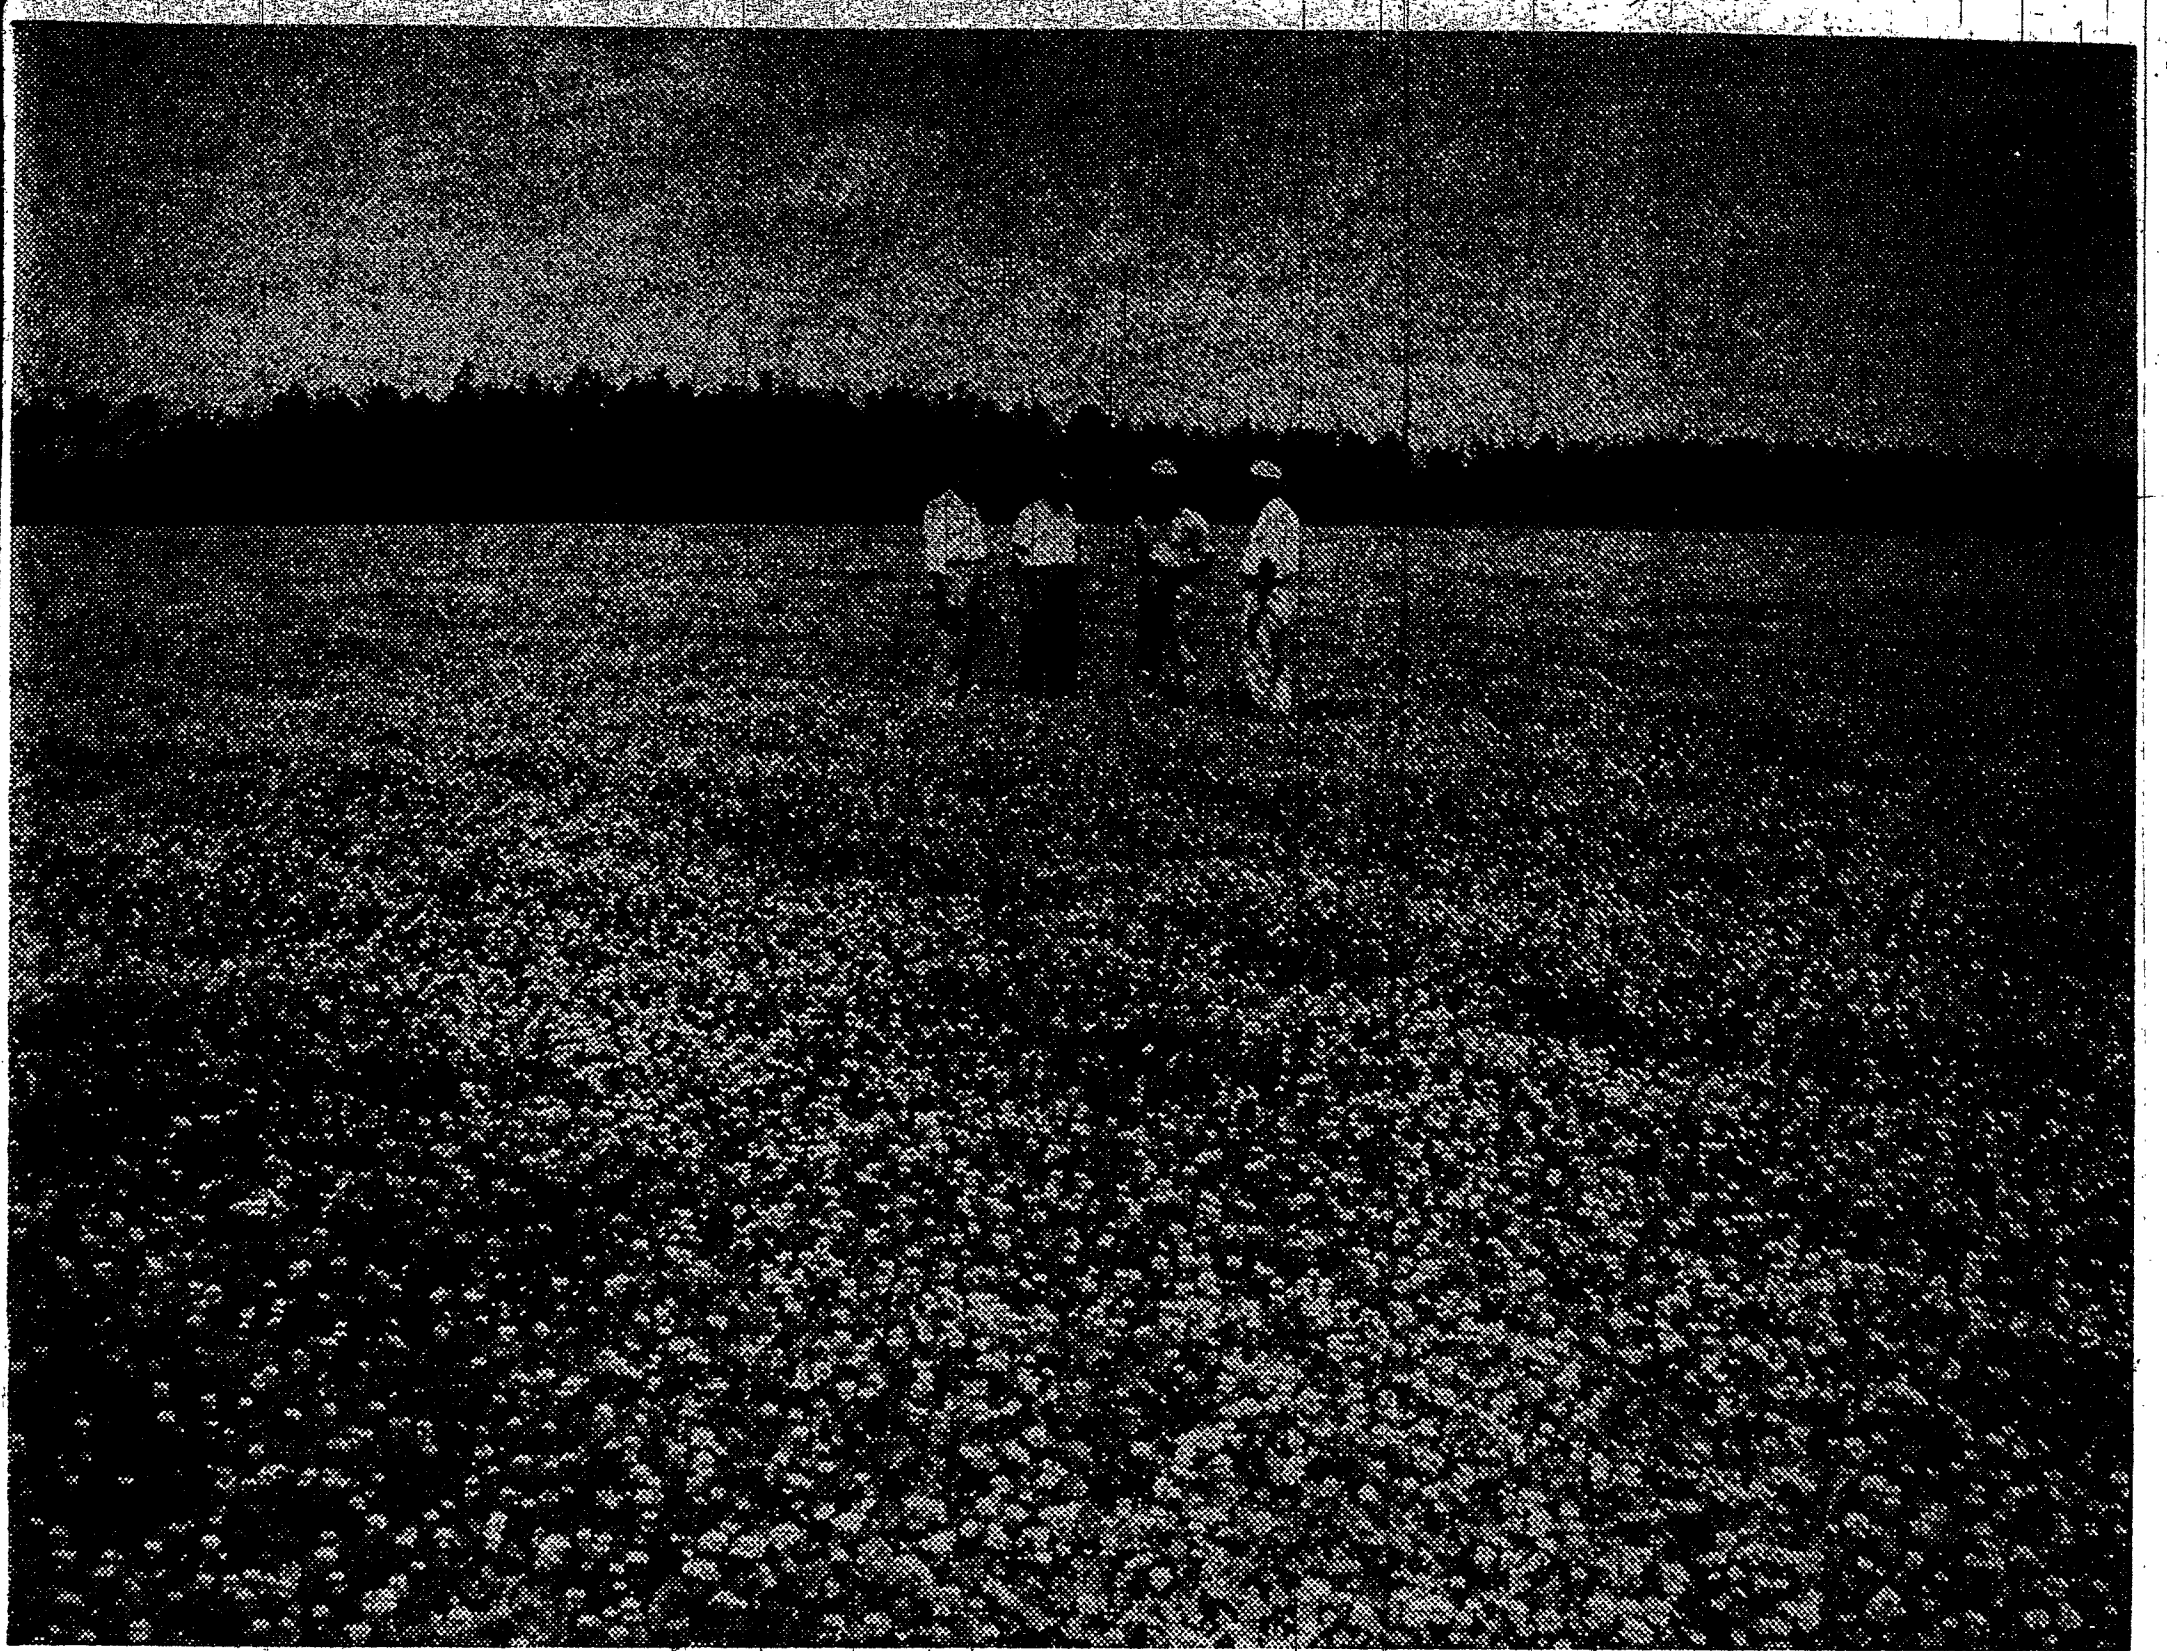

On his white dutch clover pasture he has eleven acres, which he has fenced off and allowed to seed. He estimates a yield of 100 lbs. of seed to the acre, which will net him approximately $1200.00 in cash.

His dairy cattle have been grazing this pasture since late February; he did not turn them in earlier because they were grazing a winter pasture of oats.

Paul had been feeding a 20% protein feed before this year, he has now reduced it 13% protein and has reduced his feed bill about 50% and has increased his milk production about 33 1/3% under his pasture program.

His cash income from his milk sales will average about $650.00 per month this year, he estimates, and with his sale of seed and other farm products he feels that his total gross income will exceed $10,000.00.

Not a bad income for a young man who had no desire to be a farmer, but who found himself, and who has the will, and too, the aid of a perfectly coordinated farm program, now in existence in Hancock County. He is following a well planned soil conservation program, where every acre is used for the purpose and growth for which it is particularly adapted.

The decision of Paul and Marjorie

Bounds to lend some assistance to his parents was one which probably carved their future, giving to them today the opportunity to meet their financial obligations, which will eventually mean an outstanding farm and home all their own and will insure for them an above average standard of living. In addition to his farm duties, Paul is finding time for active leadership in his area. He is president of the Picayune Area Artificial Breeders Association. And lest we forget two lovely children, Darlene 2 years old, and Randon 1 year old, complete a happy family circle, of an industrious young couple, whose pioneering spirit in dairying and pasturing may help blaze a trail in the future development of Hancock County.

Our boys will purchase your tickets for you, get your popcorn, direct you in parking place, clean your windshield and keep in contact with you so as to serve you all during the show.
5. We have the latest in modern "IN CAR" speakers, each with an individual sound volume control. This will aid in the greater pleasure in seeing the feature. Just turn the volume control for the desired volume.

9. The large stage will enable us to bring before you in person your favorite stage and screen stars.
10. No need to dress, come as you are. Work clothes, bathing suits, pajamas, evening dress, shorts or slacks. Get comfortable.

JOHN SAUCIER DIES

John Saucier, 70 year old resident of DeLisle, was killed at about 8 a. m. Tuesday morning where he was dynamiting stumps. It was said that Saucier had lit a fuse and applied it to the stump when the fuse in the box ignited.

The displays covered the relining, restyling hats, slip covers, dress making, tying springs in cushions, pine needle craft work and other phases of the work taught in the clubs.

S. J. A. Students Give May Festival

Jacqueline LaNasa and Roy Guilotta reigned as Queen and King of the annual May Festival at St. Joseph Academy on Saturday evening at the auditorium.

Louise Piazza and Dick Rutledge were maid and duke of honor.

The stage represented a spring garden; on either side of the stage were rose-covered trellises with blooming azalea bushes standing at either side of the royal seat. Easter lilies were arranged at the foot of the stage. Two large butterflies flamed the background of the throne and smaller butterflies were evident throughout the garden perched on flowers and shrubs.

Preceding the entrance of the maids and dukes and their junior maids and dukes the flower girls entered and took their places at the foot of the stage.

The maids wore soft dresses in pastel shades and carried spring flowers.

The queen's dress was made of nylon tulle and was covered with sequins. It was fashioned with a three tiered gathered bouffant skirt. Her train fell from the waist and was of the same material as the dress. This was trimmed in a sequin design with natural flowers at the end of the train. Her crown and scepter were made of matching pink carnations. She was escorted to the stage by her father Dr. Joseph E. LaNasa.

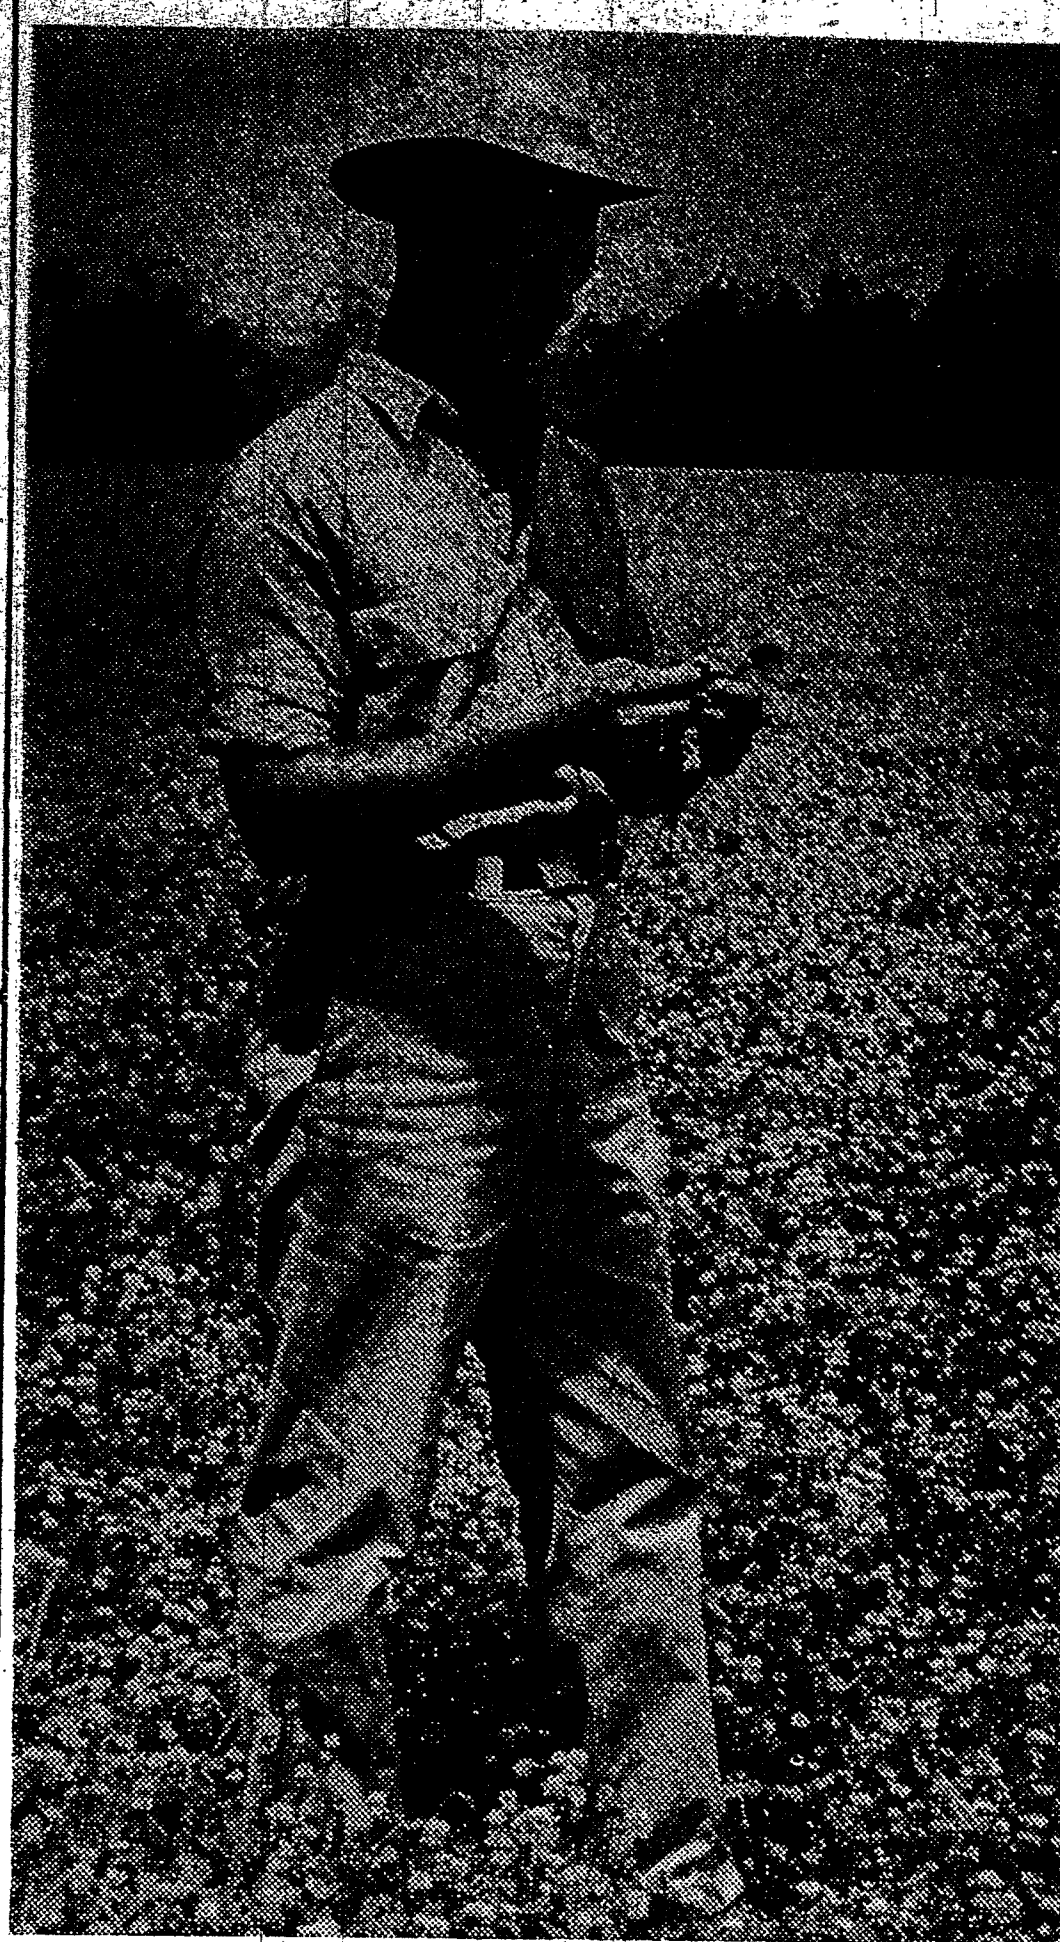

The maid of honor, Louise Piazza, wore a dress of white organza over white tulle with a tight fitted bodice finished at the top with a ruffle. A double ruffle gave it the off the shoulder effect.

The full skirt was fashioned with eight tiers four of which were ruffled and four were accented with pleated and finished with tiny ruffles. She carried an arm bouquet of red roses tied with silver ribbon.

The junior maid and junior duke to the king and queen were Janet Ann Trapani and Joe LaNasa and to the duke of honor and maid of honor, Yvonne Arzigues and Johnny Prewitt.

The court was entertained with a May Pole dance by the pupils of the fourth grade and directed by Noleen Ladner. They wore red, white and blue costumes with matching hats.

Music for dancing and marching was furnished by Kramer's dance orchestra.

PREPARING LAND FOR A LONG JOURNEY

"Ever see a farmer fixing up his land for a long trip—a trip from which the land will not return?" asks Randolph W. Seal, chairman of the Hancock county PMA committee.

"If the land is to go by air the excess baggage must be kept down. There can be no sod or clods. The soil should be well pulverized. Soil particles must be prevented from grouping together. It should be dry and fine so that when a good wind comes along, the tiny particles can take off with a minimum of difficulty.

"If the land is to go the water route, it likewise should travel light. It's difficult—if not quite impossible—to transport any great amount of soil that is loaded down with sod or tree roots.

"A finely pulverized soil—practically free of organic matter and humus—and not hindered by field strips or windbreaks—has priority for air travel. It is first in line when the winds come sweeping across the country.

"Likewise, pulverized soil with little or no vegetative cover, free of organic matter and with, natural channels in the up-and-down-slope furrows, is all set to leave with the next heavy rain."

In this indirect way Mr. Seal emphasizes the importance of keeping land in condition to stay on the farm. "Heavy loss of topsoil by dust storms in some areas and by floods in others serve as a warning that constant protection through conservation practices is necessary to keep land from taking off." "And," he points out, "soils which start on these air and water journeys travel on a one-way ticket—they do not come back."

WHY WASTE SOIL ON SURPLUSES

Surpluses not only affect prices but they use up valuable soil fertility, in the production of commodities for which there is not a market.

That is briefly the way Mr. Seal sums up the problem of excess production. He believes that using up soil fertility in the production. He believes that using up soil fertility in the production of commodities which cannot be used is just as wasteful as though it had been carried away by water or wind.

Farmers of Hancock County should make adjustments in their production to fit the needs of the market instead of depending on the government to take the excess production, Mr. Seal said.

By seeding land taken out of cotton into grass and legumes, farmers will be carrying out one of the best conservation practices and at the same time will be helping to balance production to market needs. The grass and legumes hold the soil and add to the organic matter and humus.

Reserves can be built up in the soil for increased production if and when it is needed in the future. With increasing population and limited amount of land which can be used economically to produce food, there is need for increasing the reserves in the soil.

Shifting production from cotton crops to other crops which can be expected to reach surplus volume neither conserves the soil nor helps to bring about the necessary adjustment in production.

Mr. Seal points out that the Agricultural Conservation Program provides assistance for a number of conservation practices having to do with the seeding and improving of stands of grass and legumes. He urged that farmers of Hancock county check with the county PMA committee on such practices to fit these practices into their adjustment plans.

CLOSING DATE FOR REPORTING PERFORMANCE

The closing date for reporting performance on winter cover crop practices is May 15, 1950. All farmers who have not made their performance reports are urged to do so immediately. If the farmers will cooperate by making these reports early, the PMA County Committee will not have to question giving assistance in the future, because a farmer did not make his performance report on time.

Civil Service Conducts Drivers Safety Program

A. J. Leach, Regional Director, Tenth U. S. Civil Service Regional Office, New Orleans, announced today that his office is intensifying and strengthening the Civil Service drivers safety program in Louisiana and Mississippi. Plans have been made, Mr. Leach disclosed, to hold additional training conferences for agency examiners who give the civil service road test to job applicants being considered for appointment to truck driver, chauffeur, and other positions requiring the operation of government motor vehicles.

"Careless drivers and drivers with bad accident records, are wasting their time if they apply for civil service jobs requiring them to operate motor vehicles," Mr. Leach said. He explained that applicants for truck driver, chauffeur, and similar positions are required to meet rigid qualification requirements, as only thoroughly experienced drivers are employed in these positions. A check is then made of available accident and arrest records of police and motor vehicle authorities. Applicants with questionable or bad accident records are rejected. Those who pass these hurdles must finally demonstrate before appointment, that they are skilled and careful drivers by qualifying in a practical road test, administered under civil service supervision. The training conferences which are currently being planned will be given to agency examiners who administer the practical road test to job applicants at New Orleans, Alexandria, Shreveport, Jackson, Biloxi, and other localities in Louisiana and Mississippi.

The Civil Service Regional Director also divulged that the U. S. Civil Service Commission's Washington office is conducting a continuous study of drivers selection procedures, in cooperation with all Civil Service Regional Offices, with a view to strengthening them in every way possible. The civil service drivers testing program is a very important part of the overall safety program of the Federal government, Mr. Leach said. He emphasized that a vigorous effort is being made by Civil Service Commission personnel to enable the United States Government to assume a position of leadership in the field of accident prevention.

Money-Making Tips For Farmers

By Howard F. Simmons

HARVESTING CLOVER AND LEGUME SEED

Harvesting clover and legume seed is another way to make money in the pasture program. Many farmers are now planning such harvest.

All pasture seed are easy to harvest. But there are several ways the different clover and legume seeds can be harvested.

Farmers have found the following methods to be good.

For crimson clover, one method is to mow early in the morning when 75 percent of the heads are dark brown. Let it lie on the ground for three days and pick up out of the swath with the pick-up attachment on the combine. Do not windrow.

This method lets crimson seed harvest start about two to three weeks ahead of direct harvesting.

The second method, harvesting direct, will have to be done when all the crimson clover seed heads are dead ripe and will thresh easily. If it rains hard or stays wet for a short time at this state, the seed will be lost.

If grazing is continued on crimson, it will pay to harvest direct because the clover will be too short to mow down and pick back up. Some seed can be harvested even though grazing is continued.

It will pay to harvest crimson direct in Sericea lespedeza when hay is wanted from the first cutting.

White clover gives the most seed by cutting when 75 percent of the seed heads are dark and picking up the third day with the combine pick-up attachment. Never rake white clover in windrow.

Harvesting white clover direct gives a poor turn-out. It will pay only where pastures have been grazed late and the clover seed stalks are short.

If rains set in and harvesting cannot be done, either stack the clover in piles or bale with the pick-up bailer. Then leave it alone until August, when it is run through the combine for all the seed which can be recovered.

Red clover should be cut when 75 percent of the heads are black and picked up with the pick-up attachment direct out of the swath. Where red clover has been planted in the pasture and grazing continued, let seed heads get black and dry before harvesting direct for what seed are there.

Wild winter peas should be harvested direct all the time. Too much seed is lost by cutting and raking.

After harvesting peas direct, spread and stir the seed for two or three days. Most of the mature green peas will dry out and be good.

Vetch is best harvested direct. Dry the green or damp seed.

Hop clover should always be harvested direct. Begin harvesting when the seed can be rubbed out between the hands.

Puritan clover is best harvested by cutting and raking into windrows and pickup up with the pick-up attachment, or pitching into the combine with forks.

QUALITY MILK
Dairymen sometimes have milk turned down at the plant on account of clover odor and flavor at this time of year.

It seems that less trouble of this kind occurs where clover and a grass or a cereal have been planted together about half and half. Also less difficulty with bloat is noticed in mixed plantings.

One way to get around the clover flavor problem is to keep the cows off clover grazing for four to six hours before milking.

If this does not solve the difficulty, try letting the cows graze the clover two to three hours immediately after milking, morning and evening. Then move them from the clover grazing.

Webb Mothers Elect Officers

Mrs. Owen Heitzmann was elected president of the Webb School Mother's Club at their final meeting of the year last Wednesday afternoon at the school. Other officers chosen were: Mrs. George Duke, vice-president; Mrs. Claiborne Ladner, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Lewis Henderson, program chairman; Mrs. Andrew Carver and Mrs. Ben Hille, membership committee; Mrs. Gerard Freeman, hospitality chairman; and Mrs. Thomas Goodwin, room mother chairman.

SCHOOL PICNIC

The school picnic, to be held May 16, was discussed; the Mother's club promised to attend and to furnish a large share of the refreshments.

A report on the luncheon, main project of the Mother's club for the past two years, was heard, and the new picnic-style table was inspected. Thanks were voted to Superior Supply Company, who donated the materials, and to Mr. Fred Garner, who made it for the school without charge. Mr. Garner is at present making a second table, materials for which were furnished the school by Magnolia State Supply Company.

GROUP IS ACTIVE

While no business meetings will be held during the summer, the group will not be inactive. They have authorized construction of window deflectors to remove the glare, which has been a great problem in the classrooms; the school board has already been asked for help in finishing the lunchroom floor and in providing adequate desks for the classrooms; and the new president, Mrs. Heitzmann, will call a planning meeting shortly.

It was decided to repeat the events which proved so popular and successful this year—the autumn spaghetti supper, the before-Christmas bazaar, and the Play Day in connection with Mardi Gras.

MORE ACTIVITY

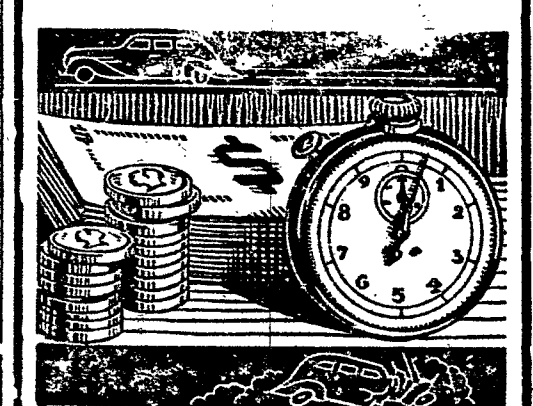

The club expressed the hope that the school curriculum next year will include music and physical education, and that visual-aid movies can be used to augment the classroom teaching. After the business meeting, Mrs. George Fletcher entertained the group with a Stanley party, proceeds of which went to the Mother's club. Refreshments were enjoyed.

GREAT BOOKS MEET

Jean Jacques Rousseau's "Social Contract" will be discussed at the meeting of the Great Books club to be held Friday, May 13 at 8:00 p. m. in the Episcopal Parish house.

Mrs. Gladys Bartlett Jones spent last Thursday in New Orleans on a combined pleasure and business trip.

WHO ARE THESE 700,000 MEN THEY CALL "KNIGHTS"?

Whether you are a Catholic or not, you should know the truth about the Knights of Columbus.

Is it, as sometimes rumored, a secret society with designs against our government? Do its members really take an oath to destroy non-Catholic institutions and to promote Catholic political power?

If such rumors were true, the Knights of Columbus would not deserve the friendship and trust of non-Catholic citizens, which it invites and merits. Actually there is no more thoroughly American organization than this fraternal order of Catholic men.

It is composed of plumbers and lawyers, farmers and doctors, business men and scientists—of Catholic men at every level of the social and economic scale. Some are rabidly partisan Democrats, others equally staunch Republicans. On political and public questions, they "choose up sides" with all the freedom and enthusiasm of any other citizens.

The Knights of Columbus was formed in 1882, by a small group of the men of St. Mary's Church, New Haven, Connecticut. They had met, at the invitation of Father Michael J. McGivney, not to form a national fraternal society, but to "render mutual aid to the members of the parish and their families."

In the years that since have ensued, the Knights of Columbus has grown into a fraternal order of 700,000 members, spread over the United States, Canada and other countries of the Western World. But its purpose of "mutual aid"... and its principles of charity, unity, fraternity and patriotism... have remained unchanged through those 67 years.

Millions of dollars contributed by the American people have been spent by the Order for the relief of victims of fire, flood and famine... for the support of Christian youth work... for aid to Christian education. In World War I, and immediately thereafter $44,000,000 was expended by the Knights in support of our troops and in the rehabilitation of veterans. Even after all these years, veterans of the first great conflict still remember the Knights of Columbus huts in France with their friendly invitation: "Everybody Welcome—Everything Free."

Nearly one out of every six Knights served his country in World War II, and many laid down their lives. Despite these and many other signal demonstrations of its principles of charity, unity, fraternity and patriotism, some people have the most absurd beliefs and suspicions about the Knights of Columbus, just as they do about the Catholic Church. Even today, misinformed people give publicity at times to a false alleged Knights of Columbus oath which has been proved to be fraudulent, and which scores of others have been forced publicly to admit is untrue.

This message... and others explaining Catholic beliefs and practices... are published by the Knights of Columbus so that our non-Catholic neighbors may judge us as we really are—not as we are often misrepresented to be. We believe that truth, as Lincoln said, "is generally the best vindication against slander."

If you would like to know more about the Knights of Columbus... about the ideals, history, achievements and aims of this international society of Catholic men... we shall gladly send you free an interesting pamphlet on the subject. Write today for Pamphlet No. 9—KC.

Rules and Regulations

- Any reputable resident of this city or surrounding territory is eligible to enter the contest and compete for prizes and receive weekly commission checks.
- No salaried office employee of this newspaper is eligible to enter contest. This does not apply to country correspondents.
- Winners of prizes will be determined by their earned votes, said votes being represented by ballots issued on new and renewal subscriptions and free vote coupons clipped from this newspaper.
- Participants in this subscription drive are not confined to their own town or community in which to secure new or renewal subscriptions, but may take orders anywhere in this section; or, for that matter, anywhere else.
- Votes are issued free. It costs the subscriber nothing extra to cast their votes for any contestant. Votes must be asked for at the time of paying subscription, however, otherwise subscriber waives this privilege.
- Votes once issued are not transferable. Contestants cannot pool their votes in favor of another contestant. Should a contestant withdraw from the race, his or her accumulated votes will be cancelled. Neither will it be permissible for contestants to give or transfer unreported subscriptions to another contestant. Votes on such transferred subscriptions will be subject to disqualification at the discretion of the management.
- Any collusion on the part of contestants to nullify competition, or any other combination formed to the detriment of other participants or this newspaper will not be tolerated. Any contestant taking part in such questionable tactics stands liable to forfeit all rights to a prize or commission.
- All votes issued in the form of ballots on subscriptions, or special votes thereon, may be held in reserve and cast at the discretion of contestants or this newspaper. The free vote coupons appearing from time to time in the paper must, however, be cast within one week following publication.
- In event of a tie for any one of the prizes offered, an award of identical value will be given each tying contestant.
- Participants in this drive are authorized to accept both new and renewal subscriptions and give temporary reports on new (official receipts will be sent direct from this office) but it is understood and agreed that they will be responsible for all money collected and will remit such amounts in full to the contest department on regular report days.
- No statement or promise made by any representative or newspaper in connection with the rules and regulations appearing in the columns of this newspaper will be recognized by the publisher.
- In case of typographical or other error it is understood that neither the publisher nor contest manager shall be held responsible except to make necessary correction upon discovery of same.
- All active participants will be paid a twenty per cent cash commission ($1 on every $5 of their individual subscription collections) each week as it accrues. It is understood, however, that in the event any contestant becomes inactive—failing to make weekly reports—he will, at the discretion of the management, become disqualified and thereby forfeit all rights to a prize or extra bonus award.
- It is understood and agreed that major prize winners will consider their weekly pay checks in the light of an "advance", which are returnable upon presentation of prize—thus obviating double compensation.
- To insure absolute fairness in the awarding of prizes, the race will be brought to a close with a sealed ballot box. During the entire last "period" of the drive, a ballot box—locked and officially sealed—will be placed in the vaults of a local bank, where contestants themselves may deposit their final collections and reserve votes in utmost secrecy. In this way no one—not even the publisher or contest manager—can possibly know the actual strength of the various participants, which precludes any possibility of favoritism and insures fairness to the minutest degree.
- Twenty five thousand special extra votes will be given contestant for each 5-year subscription (or extension from previous contest subscription payment to 5 years) turned in by them during their first week in contest, and during third week of the drive half as many special extra votes will be issued on same basis.
- Any subscription once turned in can be extended during either first or second "period" by making extension payment, and remainder of votes will be issued thereon same as if full amount had been paid at the very beginning.
- Any contestant who earns as much as $50 in commissions during their first week of the drive, will receive an extra bonus of $25 cash in addition to regular commissions earned or any special prize won.
- Ten thousand free "report day" votes will be given participants making a subscription report on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays during drive.
- This newspaper guarantees fair and impartial treatment to all participants, but should any question arise the decision of the Advisory Board will be absolute and final.
- In becoming a member of this "Everybody Wins" prize subscription drive contestants agree to abide by above conditions.

22. The publishers reserves the right to make additional minor merchandise awards during Second Period.

"Everybody Wins"

Plan In Brief

The object of this big "Everybody Wins" prize contest is three-fold. Primarily, to increase the already large subscription list of this newspaper, to collect advance subscription payments from present readers, and at the same time afford local wide-awake, energetic men and women (married or single) and young people of this trade territory an opportunity to profit in a BIG way through whatever spare time they might have during the next few weeks. So, it is a plan that works both ways, and to the ultimate good of all concerned.

In order to gain this end quickly and effectively, the most attractive and altogether desirable awards ever offered by any newspaper in this section have been made ready for distribution among those who participate most actively. Ambition and energy are the only requisites for success.

Let it be understood that this is not a "lucky drawing" nor something-for-nothing affair, but a strictly legitimate competitive proposition for enterprising men and women, and one into which no element of chance enters. All active contestants will receive a liberal commission check each Monday morning covering results obtained by them during the past week, while striving to win one of the major awards. An outstanding feature of this big contest is the fact that "Everybody Wins." There will be no losers in this race.

How To Enter—What To Do

The first thing to do is to clip the Entry Coupon appearing on the opposite side of this page, fill in your name and address and mail or deliver in person to contest department at once. This coupon starts you in race with 5000 FREE votes; and, by using the Early Effort coupon appearing on front page of this issue with your first subscription (this coupon good ONLY during first week of contest!) you would then be entitled to an extra 100,000 PREMIUM votes for taking IMMEDIATE action—all of which speeds you on your way to win. Only ONE such Entry Coupon and Early Effort coupon will be accepted for each participant.

The next step is to obtain from contest department one of the little special receipts books, printed for the purpose, partial list of present subscribers showing expiration dates, etc. Thus equipped, you have but to see your friends, neighbors, relatives and acquaintances and ask them to subscribe for this newspaper the earlier the better. Once started, let no one discourage you. Just remember this: Anything worth having is worth striving for. Six and a half short weeks and you may be riding in YOUR OWN big automobile for a long, long time to come, or otherwise several hundred dollars richer in purse as the result of a little well directed effort NOW!

Then, too, as more fully outlined below, this newspaper offers "early starters" substantial special cash prizes for substantial results during the very first week of this contest, the small requirements necessary to qualify as a winner being easily attainable and well worth the little extra effort it requires. Try it and see!

How To Win The Big Prizes

It takes votes to win the big prizes, and they are secured in the following ways: First, by clipping the free vote coupon appearing in this newspaper. They all count. Begin gathering them NOW while they are good for 100 votes each. After next week these coupons will be reduced to 50 votes each; the following week to only 10 votes, and after that they will be discontinued entirely. The only restriction placed on these coupons is that they must be cast within one week after publication.

Another, and much faster way, to accumulate votes in our "Everybody Wins" prize contest is by securing new and renewal subscriptions to this newspaper. Votes are issued on each subscription secured, the number varying according to amount paid and during which "period" same are received at the contest department. SEE SCHEDULE OF VOTES BELOW.

Early Start Means Easy Finish

The advantages of an early start are manifest. This "Everybody Wins" prize contest is of such short duration that immediate action is necessary for greater success. Subscriptions taken during the early part of drive not only carry the MAXIMUM number of votes but "early starters" who are first in field will undoubtedly get the "cream" of both new and renewal subscriptions, while those who put off starting until a later date will of course have to take what is left.

Don't lose valuable time "waiting to see what the other fellow is going to do" but get into the game today, without delay, and show the "other fellow" how to do it!

HOME AGENT'S NOTES

Debris Makes Garden Unattractive

By MISS MADGE ALLRED

Leaves or stubble left in your garden will attract flies, maggots and other garden pests. It's easy to let this debris accumulate throughout the gardening season; it not only detracts from the looks, but is also a home for insects and diseases. It will help multiply your garden troubles next year.

As you gather vegetables, remove the entire plant unless it is to stay longer for a "second" or continued growth. When one crop is through, clean off the row, remove all left-over plants, weeds and grass, and keep the row cultivated for another planting. This cultivation will keep down weeds and grass and conserve fertilizer and moisture.

Fill up any low area in your garden or drain it at once as a sanitation measure. A stagnant hole or undrained area won't do you or your vegetables any good. It will only add to the insect kingdom.

Fence rows covered with grass and weeds make the garden look untidy and give quick shelter to pests. Plant pole snap or pole lima beans along the garden fence and keep the crop clean. Make the fence row produce for you instead of the bugs.

Some gardeners have been and tomato stakes standing in the garden until next season. As soon as the crop is over, clean the stakes and wire trellis and store them in a dry place for future use.

Some insecticides are sensitive to light and moisture. Keep the container closed and in a safe, dark place. Don't leave it where you finish with it. You will need the material for a second or third dusting or spraying.

Remember: "Sanitation this year means more produce next year."

SLEEVELESS STYLES

Dresses and blouses with a suggestion of a sleeve are more becoming and practical for women generally than the extremely cut, bare-shoulder styles featured in some of the new fashions. The completely sleeveless garment is more appropriate for young girls.

But whoever wears sleeveless dresses must be sure their arms are firm and well groomed and their lingerie neat and spotlessly clean. Without meticulous attention to these features, you will find your appearance much nearer with sleeves covering your arms.

For older women slight cap sleeves, brief kimono sleeves, winged sleeves or a straight band finish around the armhole are more attractive. These are just as cool for summer, as economical of fabric, and usually easier to make.

There's more to making a successful sleeveless dress than just leaving out the sleeves, you will find. Armholes must be cut with care so they are neither too deep and loose nor too tight. For strength, edges must be finished with binding or facing without stretching the armhole in the process.

The finish must be put on so that it is smooth, flat and tailored-looking. Shoulder pads also are a problem with bare-shoulder styles. They must be covered with the dress fabric, made rather flat, and shaped to fit the shoulder, or they will be conspicuous.

When making a sleeveless dress, mark the armhole according to the pattern but cut the shoulder wider. Then, when the dress is basted and tried on, the edge can be trimmed to suit the wearer. If the dress is cut to extend beyond the shoulder, as in cap or kimono sleeves, it is easily finished by rolling or hemming. A band of straight-cut fabric is another easy finish.

The sleeveless vogue, like all new fashions, needs to be adapted to the wearer. Extreme in style usually are neither practical nor becoming to the average woman, but with a little imagination can be "tempered" to suit her.

A DANGEROUS WEAPON

Yes, the gun is a dangerous weapon, but it is the match we are talking about. In careless hands, it can start a forest fire that will burn thousands of acres of growing forests, ruin hunting grounds for sportsmen, and recreation areas for hikers and campers. When you are in wooded areas be careful with fire as you are with loaded guns. Both are dangerous. Prevent forest fires. Keep America Green.

A Good Investment For EVERYONE!

You can find plenty of people who mistakenly think that our government is using the taxpayers money to give farmers electricity. There are propagandists who promote this mistaken belief for their own selfish interests.

We'd like to point out that Uncle Sam's "generosity" in this case is not costing a cent of the taxpayer's money. The loans which the Rural Electrification Administration makes to rural electric systems like ours have to be repaid—with interest.

Five years from the date we receive a loan, we have to begin repaying it. At the end of thirty-five years, we will have repaid about $1.35 for every $1.00 we get from the government. Together with other rural electric systems, we have already repaid more money—in principal and interest—than was loaned during the entire five years before June 30, 1940.

Operating as a locally-owned, locally-controlled business, we have to run our system efficiently enough to meet all of our payments when they are due and at the same time carry out our objective . . . getting electricity to every farmer in our area who wants it.
